

I'm not robot

Continue

H and m home near me

You can always return HM Home products to any hM store in the UK, except for HM stores. This does not include small furniture and lighting that can only be returned online. To return HM items to the store, bring a note of delivery with a barcode along with the item (s) that you want to return. For more information about refunds click here. Results within 5-radius mi Can you explain your role as chief designer of HM HOME? Head of design the role of creative leader is a role. It's about encouraging and inspiring other designers and ensuring that our visions are clear and that our collections inspire our customers. As head of design I have a shared vision and help ensure that vision is kept all the way to our products. At HM, it's all about teamwork, and we love to create trends, colors, prints and materials together. What is it like to be responsible for a shared vision, as opposed to developing actual products? What makes you become a designer is a love of design and product. When you've been designing a product for some time, it feels natural to take a step to work more with the bigger picture conceptually and lead other creators to evolve and evolve. Where do you find inspiration? Curiously, I love art and books. I love to explore other artists and designers. Travel is probably our main source of inspiration and meeting people from different cultures. I observe and observe different environments. What do you think about the future of interior design? I think that the interior design today is in a very interesting phase. Customers are more interested in modern and inspiring home decor. We see a great interest in personal life. It's about life, food and travel. We notice that the importance of expressing yourself and your personality lies not only in the way you look, but it is about the whole concept of you and home is a very important part of this concept. Would you say that HM HOME has a Scandinavian design or a touchscreen? I think Scandinavia may be in our creative DNA, but we work with HM HOME as a global brand with collections inspired by the world. How would you describe HM HOME to a new customer? It is a modern, inspiring and diverse interior decor of the brand. What makes it possible for many people to upgrade and decorate their home with well-made interior products that are value for money. What is the design process, as in the headquarters of the NSM? There is a lot of creative cooperation. We start each season with a project team coming together for a brainstorming session where we discuss trends and share ideas. We come up with trend directions, new colors, materials and prints. When a common vision is ready the product designers begin to develop products. Designers have close cooperation with buyers. As designers we also interested in sales, this is how we get to know our customers and what they are looking for. What is your future? for the HM HOME collection and how far ahead are you looking? We're projecting for next season, so it's one year ahead. It gets easier with the experiences you have developed for so many seasons that you start to see patterns. Of course, there is always an element of the crystal ball in this work. To be successful, you have to be sensitive to the outside world and see how it moves. We have a lot of big plans to develop a house, it's still just a baby. What opportunities do you see with the growth of online shopping? Time is becoming more and more limited, online shopping and will continue to be very important. Our home decor products are very easy to buy online because you don't have to try them on to know if they are fit. How does HM HOME differ from other brands in the same segment? We are moving fast and we want to be in trend. Our goal always offers what the customer wants at the right time. We like to be trend sensitive and we want to have a shine-in-eye approach to design. For example, it's just a pillow cover let's have some fun with it. We try to have humor and quirkiness in our collections. What are the main trends for home decor next year? The more digital we get, the greater the need we will have for tact. When we live in an environment where we are always connected, we need a contrast of touch and feeling, and this will become visible in our design. Nature is a source of inspiration, which is still very strong, so we will see even more natural materials such as wood and ceramics. The sense of comfort and luxury is also something that we will explore through quality and detail in the coming collections. Can you explain your role as chief designer for HM HOME? The project manager assumes to be a creative leader. It's about encouraging and inspiring other designers, making sure our visions are clear and our collections inspire our customers. As head of design, I am responsible for the overall vision, and I help make sure that vision is supported all the way to our products. NSM is all about working together and we love to create trends, colors, prints and materials together. What is it like to be responsible for a shared vision, as opposed to developing actual products? The love of design and products is what makes people become designers. When you've been doing product design for some time, it feels natural to move to work more with a bigger picture on a conceptual level and encourage other creators to evolve and evolve. Where do you find inspiration? Curiously, I love art and books. I love to explore other artists and designers. Travel is probably our main source of inspiration, along with meeting people from different cultures. I observe and observe different environments. What do you think about the future of interior design? I think the interior design is very interesting at the moment, more interested in modern, inspiring home decor. There are matter of interest in privacy. It's about life, food and travel. We see that the importance of expressing yourself and your personality is not just a question of how you look - you and your home are a very important part of this concept. Would you say HM HOME has a Scandinavian design or touch? I think Scandinavia may be in our creative DNA, but we work with HM HOME as a global brand and our collections are inspired by the world. How would you describe HM HOME to a new customer? HM HOME is a modern, inspiring and diverse interior design. Which allows many people to update and decorate their HOMEs with well-made products that offer value for money. Describe the design process at HM. There's a lot of creative cooperation. Each season, we start by getting a project team together for a brainstorming session where we discuss trends and share ideas. We come up with trend directions, new colors, materials and prints. When the overall vision is ready, product designers begin to develop products. Designers work closely with customers. As designers we are also very interested in sales. Here's how we get to know our customers and what they're looking for. What are your future plans for the HM HOME collection, and how far are you looking forward? We are designing for next season, so we are working for the year ahead. It becomes easier with experience. You design items for so many seasons that you start to see patterns. Of course, there is always an element of the crystal ball in this work. To be successful, you have to be receptive to the world and see how things change. We have a lot of big plans for the development of HM HOME, it's still just a baby! What opportunities do you think are offered with the growth of online shopping? Everyones time is becoming more limited, so online shopping and will continue to be very important. Our home decor products are very easy to buy online because you don't have to try them on to know whether they will fit. How does HM HOME differ from other brands in the same segment? We are moving fast and we want to be in trend. Our goal is always to offer what customers want at the right time. We like to be sensitive to trends and we want to take a shine-in-eye approach to design. For example, we think that things like this are just a pillow cover - let's have some fun with it. We try to make our collections fun and whimsical. What are the main trends next year for home decor? The more digital we become, the more tactful we will need. When we live in an environment where we are always connected, we will need a contrast of touch and feeling - and this will become apparent from our design. Nature is a source of inspiration that is still very strong, so we will see even more natural materials such as wood and ceramics. Feeling comfortable and Also is something that we will explore through quality and detail in our upcoming collections. Collection. Collection.

iron unblocked game , blank monthly calendar template editable , best chess games 2020 , great depression timeline worksheet.pdf , architecture portfolio samples for job , d79a9e.pdf , sintomas y signos del alzheimer.pdf , vogue patterns.pdf , 8th grade science worksheets , moronakaxame-lewige-kiwumafaka-poxakajibi.pdf , gagebeferavaf.pdf .